Welcome to New Hampshire!

Whether you are doing research for a report or planning a vacation with your family, you’ve picked a great state to learn about! New Hampshire is filled with beautiful places and interesting history.

ACTIVITIES

Challenge your knowledge of New Hampshire with these fun games.

Word Search

Can you find these words? They go across, down, diagonally and even backwards!

New Hampshire Moose Snowboard
Winnipesaukee Mountains Lakes
Atlantic-Ocean Forest Granite
Pumpkin Hiking Beaches
Wildlife Scenery

For more information about New Hampshire, go to: visitnh.gov/student
Para obtener más información en español, vaya a visitnh.gov/student/esp
Did you know that New Hampshire's state fruit is the pumpkin? They even have pumpkin festivals in October to celebrate it!

For more information about New Hampshire, go to: visitnh.gov/student

New Hampshire's state motto is "Live Free or Die," which was first voiced by General John Stark during the American Revolutionary War.

Some famous children's books written in New Hampshire are Little Red Riding Hood, Curious George, and Polliwanna. Many famous authors who lived in New Hampshire include Joe Hill, Bill Bryson, Dan Brown, Jeff Parnell, J.D. Salinger, Robert Frost, and Sarah Joseph Hale, author of "Mary had a Little Lamb.

The 14th President, Franklin Pierce, was from New Hampshire. He was born in Hillsboro in 1804.

New Hampshire's major industries are textiles, tourism, electronics, and computer software. The Amoskeag Mill in Manchester was once the largest textile mill in the world.

Mount Washington is the highest point in the northeastern United States at 6,288 feet above sea level.

The first American to travel in space was Alan Shepard, born in East Derry, New Hampshire. The first private citizen to travel in space was Christina McAuliffe, a teacher from Concord.

Some well-known New Hampshire based businesses headquartered in New Hampshire include: Stonyfield Farm, Lindt Chocolate USA, The Timberland Company, and Fischer Sports USA.

According to the US Census, New Hampshire had a 2014 population of approximately 1,346,813.

The state capital city of New Hampshire is Concord.

The Old Man of the Mountain, the granite profile that serves as the symbol of the state, fell from its perch atop Profile Mountain in Franconia Notch State Park.

New Hampshire's history is an exciting tale. The state was populated by Native American tribes for thousands of years before being settled by the British in 1623.

England formed New Hampshire as a separate royal colony and named it after Hampshire, England.

Wolvesboro, where the summer home of Royal Governor John Wentworth, became the first summer resort in America.

Dartmouth College was founded in Hanover, New Hampshire.

New Hampshire was the 9th state to ratify the Constitution of the United States. With this ratification, the Constitution officially went into effect.

The state capital was established in Concord. New Hampshire is home to the nation's oldest legislative building in which the House and Senate still meet.

Francis Pierce of Hillsborough, New Hampshire, became the 14th U.S. President.

The mountain climbing cog railway began operation at Mt. Washington. It is still in operation today.

The University of New Hampshire was established in Durham.

New Hampshire held the First-in-the-Nation Presidential Primary and was the only state to allow direct voting for presidential candidates.

The Seacoast Lakes Region

TheMonadnock Region

The Merrimack Valley

The Lakes Region